

WHY I WANT TO BE A UI/UX DESIGNER

Design is about making things work, making them look & feel good or fulfil purpose and solve problems. So technically, without design nothing works.

Growing up I have creativity in me. With that came a burning passion for design. I always admire the beautiful design of Websites, Logos, apps and products. And seeing how they solve problems inspired me to pursue a career in design. In the world of design, there are different branches of design eg. Graphic design, UI/UX design etc. In all I choose to become a UI/UX designer because,

I have the creativity it takes to be a good UI/UX designer. Although not all designers have creativity in them. But having creativity to me is a criteria of becoming a good UI/UX Designer.

My empathy for others and my passion for problem solving will help me to provide users designs that meet their expectations, help their life and provide solutions to their problems.

In conclusion, I want to be a UI/UX designer because, Designers can see the impact of their work around them. Not only that, the problem solving nature of UX design makes it an extremely satisfying pursuit, coupled with good earning potentials & solid career prospects.
